

Evangelist Billy Graham

February 21, 2018

This page is published by the Brown-Pennington-Atkins family to give honor to Evangelist Billy Graham whose faithful service has comforted the hearts of millions. The online tributes will be sent to the Graham family.

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Feb. 21, 2018—Evangelist Billy Graham died today at 7:46 a.m. at his home in Montreat. He was 99.

Throughout his life, Billy Graham preached the gospel of Jesus Christ to some 215 million people who attended one of his more than 400 Crusades, simulcasts and evangelistic rallies in more than 185 countries and territories. He reached millions more through TV, video, film, the internet and 34 books.

Born Nov. 7, 1918, four days before the armistice ended World War I, William Franklin “Billy” Graham Jr. grew up during the Depression and developed a work ethic that would carry him through decades of ministry on six continents.

“I have one message: that Jesus Christ came, he died on a cross, he rose again, and he asked us to repent of our sins and receive him by faith as Lord and Savior, and if we do, we have forgiveness of all of our sins,” said Graham at his final Crusade in June 2005 at Flushing Meadows Corona Park in New York.

While Graham's primary focus was to take this message to the world, he also provided spiritual counsel to presidents, championed desegregation, and was a voice of hope and guidance in times of trial. In 2001, he comforted his country and the world when he spoke at the National Cathedral in Washington, following the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks. At three global conferences held in Amsterdam (1983, 1986, 2000), Graham gathered some 23,000 evangelists from 208 countries and territories to train them to carry the message of Jesus Christ around the world.

During the week of his 95th birthday in 2013, Graham delivered his final message via more than 480 television stations across the U.S. and Canada. More than 26,000 churches participated in this My Hope project, making it the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association's largest evangelistic outreach ever in North America.

Preferred Baseball to Religion

Graham, a country boy turned world evangelist, who prayed with every U.S. president from Harry S. Truman to Barack Obama, was raised on a dairy farm in Charlotte. Back then, "Billy Frank," as he was called, preferred baseball to religion. "I detested going to church," he said when recalling his youth.

But in 1934, that changed. At a revival led by traveling evangelist Mordecai Fowler Ham, 15-year-old Graham committed his life to serving Jesus Christ. No one was more surprised than Graham himself.

"I was opposed to evangelism," he said. "But finally, I was persuaded by a friend [to go to a meeting]...and the spirit of God began to speak to me as I went back night after night. One night, when the invitation was given to accept Jesus, I just said, 'Lord, I'm going.' I knew I was headed in a new direction."

Several years later, Graham's "new direction" led him to the Florida Bible Institute (now Trinity College of Florida), and later, Wheaton College in suburban Chicago, where he met fellow student Ruth McCue Bell, the daughter of medical missionaries in China. The couple graduated and married in the summer of 1943. Mr. and Mrs. Graham and their five children made their home in the mountains of North Carolina. They were married for 64 years before Ruth's death in 2007.

After two years of traveling as a speaker for the Youth for Christ organization, Billy Graham held his first official evangelistic Crusade in 1947; but it was his 1949 Los Angeles Crusade that captured the nation's attention. Originally scheduled to run for three weeks, the "tent meetings" were extended for a total of eight weeks as hundreds of thousands of men, women and children gathered to hear Graham's messages.

On the heels of this campaign, Graham started the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, which was incorporated in 1950. Since 2000, Graham's son, Franklin, has led the Charlotte-based organization, which employs some 500 people worldwide.

Billy Graham may be best known, however, for his evangelistic missions or "Crusades." He believed God knew no borders or nationalities. Throughout his career, Graham preached to millions in locations from Addis Ababa, Ethiopia to Zagorsk, Russia; and from Wellington, New Zealand to the National Cathedral in Washington. In 1973, Graham addressed more than one million people crowded into Yoido Plaza in Seoul, South Korea—the largest live audience of his Crusades.

Breaking Down Barriers

Preaching in Johannesburg in 1973, Graham said, “Christ belongs to all people. He belongs to the whole world....I reject any creed based on hate... Christianity is not a white man’s religion, and don’t let anybody ever tell you that it’s white or black.”

Graham spoke to people of all ethnicities, creeds and backgrounds. Early in his career, he denounced racism when desegregation was not popular. Before the U.S. Supreme Court banned discrimination on a racial basis, Graham held desegregated Crusades, even in the Deep South. He declined invitations to speak in South Africa for 20 years, choosing instead to wait until the meetings could be integrated. Integration occurred in 1973, and only then did Graham make the trip to South Africa.

A 1977 trip to communist-led Hungary opened doors for Graham to conduct preaching missions in virtually every country of the former Eastern Bloc (including the Soviet Union), as well as China and North Korea.

Graham authored 34 books, including his memoir, Just As I Am (Harper Collins, 1997), which remained on The New York Times best-seller list for 18 weeks.

In 1996, Graham and his wife, Ruth, received the Congressional Gold Medal, the highest award Congress can bestow on a private citizen. He was also listed by Gallup as one of the “Ten Most Admired Men” 61 times—including 55 consecutive years (except 1976, when the question was not asked). Graham was cited by the George Washington Carver Memorial Institute for his contributions to race relations and by the Anti-Defamation League of the B’nai B’rith.

Throughout his life, Graham was faithful to his calling, which will be captured in the inscription to be placed on his grave marker: Preacher of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“There were a few times when I thought I was dying, and I saw my whole life come before me...” said Graham at his Cincinnati Crusade on June 24, 2002. “I didn’t say to the Lord, ‘I’m a preacher, and I’ve preached to many people.’ I said, ‘Oh Lord, I’m a sinner, and I still need Your forgiveness. I still need the cross.’ And I asked the Lord to give me peace in my heart, and He did—a wonderful peace that hasn’t left me.”

Billy Graham is survived by his sister Jean Ford; daughters Gigi, Anne and Ruth; sons Franklin and Ned; 19 grandchildren; and numerous great-grandchildren. His wife, Ruth, died June 14, 2007, at age 87, and is buried at the Billy Graham Library. A private funeral service is planned at the Billy Graham Library, on a date to be announced. In lieu of flowers, memorial gifts may be made to the ongoing ministry of evangelism at the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, online at BillyGraham.org or via mail, sent to the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, 1 Billy Graham Parkway, Charlotte, NC 28201. Notes of remembrance can be posted at BillyGraham.org

“ My mother who also graduated to her eternal life with Jesus in 1992, used to always watch the televised crusades when Billy Graham came out. She was born in Mexico so her English was very broken, but at the end of the sermon, like every single time, she would follow along with the choir singing in the background. She would always end by praying for all those people that got saved and for Billy Graham. She will also be so happy to see you Pastor Graham. I'll see you all one day too. God bless you all.

“ We watched the Billy Graham crusades at my house while I was growing up in Hartsville, SC. I remember so well. As an adult, my husband, son and I saw him at Williams Brice Stadium in Columbia, SC. He had an impact on my life and so many others. I am praying for his family as he is laid to rest today. What an awesome preacher!!

“ Three channels....we only had three channels in the sixties and the Crusades would be on all three of them! So I watched and heard the magnificent George Beverly Shea sing "It is No Secret What God can do". Ethel Waters would sing "His Eye is on the Sparrow" and I felt like she was singing to all of us everywhere. Cliff Barrows was a great emcee and song leader. I wasn't but seven or eight, but those Crusades planted a seed that came to fruition at a revival at the Laurel Hill, NC Baptist Church when an evangelist spoke the call so familiar from the Crusades, urging us to come on down and accept Jesus. A friend helped me go down the aisle as I was a nervous child. Though I never got to a Crusade, I read his books, and heard him speak and the things he spoke to my heart and soul told me even at ten, that I needed to be loved and adopted by Jesus. I have now served him for 51 years. and wait for the day that I, too, will leave this temporary home for a permanent one. Thank you, Family. for sharing so freely your loved one with this sinful world. Much love and prayer. Teresa Fisher

“ Our hearts are with your family, as we all mourn the loss of your special loved one, Reverend Billy Graham. Four generations in our family had the great privilege of either watching his many crusades on tv, being able to be there in person, sharing conversations with one another about the many lives he has touched, and my 100 year old Grandmama recently having enjoyed reading his book, "Nearing Home." We feel honored to have known and loved your Dad in this way. Thank you for sharing him with the world.

“ We want to express our condolences to the Graham family! What a legacy you have! He is at Home with his precious Lord and family members who have gone before him! We are reminded of a great song that Jeff has sung at quite a few funerals.... "When engulfed by the terror of tempestuous seas, unknown waves before me roll. At the end of this long tunnel is eternity for fear and conflict cease your soul....But just think of stepping on shore and finding it heaven, of touching a hand and finding it God's. Of breathing new air and finding it celestial, of waking up in heaven and calling it home!"
