“ Carlie, I know we were in a rough spot, and we almost never were on the same side of an arguement, but your passing weighs heavy on my soul. I wish I could have said that I was sorry for all the mean things I've said, and I wish that we could have been on better terms. My chance for apologies has passed now, and the burden of all our tiffs and tats must be carried by my shoulders. It is a burden that I hope will give me the strength to be as tough as you were. There are no words to explain the emotions racing through my head right now... But, I promise that one day, I will be a man that you, Mike, and mom can be proud of. I make this promise knowing, when that day comes, I'll know you're proud of me; because when I can say I'm proud of myself, I'm sure that you three will be proud too.
