Charles, a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Hartsville, was a retired senior engineer with AO Smith in McBee. He was also a Past Master of Hartsville Masonic Lodge #173 who coached untold numbers of new masons during their entry into the lodge. He was a man with a wide variety of interests, not least among them was cooking. While not a chef of the kitchen, he was a Master of the grill and was known far and wide for his barbecue. A man of with a giving spirit, he showered his affections on all of God's lesser creatures both large and small, both domestic and wild. But as many know he was best known for his affection for his beloved cats. Charles was greatly loved by his family, and will be widely missed by those who knew him. His family sends him into God's arms with the expectant anticipation for seeing him again in

Our Father's Heaven.
