“ I can't believe that Chris is gone. The 3 year old who wanted me to make him a train birthday cake, the little blond headed little boy who slipped under the table to take Richard's, Richie's, and my shoes off. I can still feel his sweet little blond head tucked under my chin as I read their bedtime story to RIchie and him. I could hear their giggles after lights out. Chris's smile lite up our hearts and lives. I always thought of him sharing that infectious smile somewhere.i know he is in Heaven. I will love him until my heart stops beating. Bob and Judy, you have my sympathy and a part of my heart went with him. Miles and years separated us but he always had a permanent place in my heart that no one could ever fill. Rest in peace, my sweet, sweet boy.

....Words can't make your sorrow any easier to bear,
But they can show
how deeply we do care.In the quiet moments when the hurt is to hard to bear,May love become your shelter & May the beauty of Precious memories be your comfort.I can remember when Chris and Nicky was very little sitting on our steps together,Just as I walked by the door Chris leaned over and kissed Nicky .He looked up at me and was so shy he got up and ran home.....you are all held in gentle thoughts and Prayers###imported-begin##Tim and Monica Walters###imported-end##*

“ I don't have the words to say to make this less painful. I am so sorry to hear about Chris. he was such a precious young man, and our family feels deeply for your family. We actually lost my own nephew Chris a few years ago in the same fashion. It still hurts today, but with God's help, love and GRACE we have made it through. I do know that God's love for Chris far exceeds anything we could imagine, and that Chris (both Chris's) are in the loving arms of Jesus as I write this. Henry (and Kim Bice, who is my daughter) will be there tomorrow, and I will be praying for all of you as you go through this difficult time. All our love and prayers to the family and to Chris's friends, who will also need grace to get through this.##imported-begin##Debbie Myers##imported-end##
