Dear Peggy and Paula, when I think of your daddy, i can't help but think of his cigar in hand and left hand low on his golf clubs! He gave great hugs and had a smile that could warm the coldest of days . I began calling him "dad" too, when I would help Jeffie to the car on Wednesday nights. She always asked, "would you call Dad for me" and when he answered, I would say, "Dad, your bride is ready". He would laugh and say, "I'm on the way". Well, now they're togeth again and happy. We all miss them but long to be where they are. My love to all of you, now and always.
