“ Mr. Curtis was always such a sweet man to my family and I. He never failed to help anyone he could and kept a smile on everyone's face. I'll never forget him showing up to my dad's visitation and telling me what a good man my dad was- because he's just as good of a man. I love y'all so much. Much love

“ Was shocked to see Curtis has passed. I last saw him at Heyward's visitation and was pleased to see him looking well. He was my brother-in-law's first cousin, my Daddy's and my friend and I'm sure he will be missed by all who knew him. I could probably write a book about Curtis' humor, pranks, generosity and wisdom. A few things stick in my mind, one how he called the beach "the city by the sea". Another how he and Heyward used to ride around, cruising the 'Ville. I remember him coming to my Daddy's funeral, standing off in the distance and how it touched my family's heart he was there. One night my Moma's back doorbell rang. By the time she got to the door, no one was there. She found a basket of fresh greens, collards/turnips and the biggest box of chocolates I have EVER seen! She was one happy senior citizen and Curtis was the benefactor. In casual conversation she had mention she craved some good fresh pulled greens and loved chocolates. How sweet is that? My heart aches for all the family. His siblings and cousins I've been blessed to count among my long time friends. Curtis was one of a kind and always had the courage to tell it like he saw it and be himself. Rest in peace.
