

Earline Hopkins

May 4, 1920 - May 16, 2008

Earline Ross was one of the 13 graduates from Antioch High School in May, 1937. She lived with her parents, Lentford Chester Ross and Lillie Maude Morton Hammonds Ross, on her grandfather's 50 acre farm west of Hartsville in what is now the Morton Community. Chester worked in the Hartsville Cotton Mill.

Earline's siblings were Mary Felicia (Byrd), Ruby Lee (Nesbitt), Edgar Clarence, James Garvin, and Jerrie (Flynn). Her paternal grandparents were Joseph Eli Ross and Mary Amanda Barefoot; her maternal grandparents were Josephus Morton and Mary Melinda Treece.

Earline began working in the Hartsville Cotton Mill in January, 1939, and drew her first payroll of $4.64 for her first week in the Spool room. She played softball in school and on the Mill's team, and played the guitar.

Earline married Malcolm Benard Hopkins – who also worked in the Mill -, in October, 1939, and continued working in the Mill while having three children: William Malcolm, Jack Lee, and Betty Earline.

Family genealogy became Earline's passion in later life and she and sister Ruby spent years going through courthouse records, exploring and documenting cemeteries, and interviewing extended family members about family relationships. Her pet peeve has been obituaries that gave no useful genealogical information.

She was a NASCAR fan, and enjoyed sewing, making dolls, and quilting. She was a voracious reader and adept at doing the New York Times crossword puzzles. Her greatest accomplishment was that she was a good Mom.

Earline was born May 4, 1920, and died May 16, 2008. For almost all her life, she lived in "The Mill Village"; a place of fascinating community life during and after World War II.

She is survived by sisters Ruby and Jerrie; her children, Bill, Jack, and Betty Stogner; four grandchildren, and a great-grandchild.

Private graveside services were held Saturday, May 17, at Westview Memorial Park, In Hartsville, S.C. Brown-Pennington-Atkins Funeral Home is serving the family.
