“ Sylvia and family, We were so sorry to learn of your mothers death. The only way one can truly feel for you is having gone through this same valley of death. Isn't it wonderful to know that "He was a man acquainted with sorrow, and surely has carried our grief and the chastisement of our peace was upon Him." Surely He will carry our grief if only we can allow Him. It's at times such as these that we realize that He can hide us from the storm, as we take shelter in Him as our rock. I have often thought of how fortunate Morgan and Chase have been to have had seven great-grand parents and four-grand parents at one time. Truly yours and our grand children have been most blessed in this life already. Our prayers and thoughts are with you. Darlene and Leon Gaddy###imported-begin###Darlene & Leon Gaddy###imported-end##
