“ Hey MooMoo!! Mom just called and Aunt Mick is not doing well. We think she may be coming to see you soon. Oh what a glorious reunion its gonna be. Poor Uncle Ray, when he gets you two together, he's in trouble. Atleast we did get to see her for her birthday last weekend. I really believe thats why everybody was able to make it, because we knew it might be the last one. Mama, I love and miss you so much. I think about you constantly even after all of these years. “ Dangit, why did you have to go and leave me? I just want to pick up the phone and hear your voice so bad. You were always the one I could depend on to brighten any dark time I had. I remember the day we lost you just like it was yesterday. Watching you lay there trying to decide if you wanted to go home or stay and make us happy. I know it was hard for you, and the good Lord needed another angel in heaven. I begged you not to go out of selfishness, because I was not sure how I could go on without you. To watch you take your last breath was so hard, but I know it was what you wanted. Mama, I love and miss you so much!! Love...Amy###imported-begin###Amy Smith###imported-end###

“ Hey My Favorite MooMa!! We all went to Greensboro for Aunt Mick's birthday on saturday. Mom, Richard, Deb, Heather, Ryan, Cassidy, Susan, Johnny, Me, Kennedy and Robert. We had such a good time. It was my first trip to Greensboro without you, so that was pretty tough. Us younger ones left and went to the mall to leave the old farts to talk about what old farts talk about. Kennedy's birthday is today. She is becoming such an awesome young lady. She told me lastnight she didn't like Nana much. I told her that you need to cherish every moment you have with her, because one day she'll be gone. My grandma is gone and it's not fun. I think about you and talk about you everyday. I'm sure people think I'm crazy, but I don't care. I miss you old woman!! Love...##imported-begin##Amy Smith##imported-end##

“ Hey old woman!! Just wanted to let you know I'm still thinking about you. Over the weekend I took the boyfriend out to meet you and Papa. There wasn't much conversation, I've never known you to be at a loss for words. I think I freaked him out a little when I layed down on top of you and had a good cry. He knows all about you and the awesome relationship we had. If these old women around here don't stop wearing that Youth Dew perfume, I'm gonna go and blow up the place that makes it. Everytime I smell it I cry. I love you so much!! Your favorite...Amy##imported-begin##Amy Smith##imported-end##

Kennedy will be 10 this month, OMG..I'm getting so old. Where has the time gone? You have been gone for almost 3 years, but it seems like just yesterday I was in the bed with you giving you kisses, pestering the heck out of you. I miss you old woman!! I smell your Youth Dew everywhere. My birthday is coming up again, I'll be 35, can you believe that? Kennedy is growing so fast. She still makes fun of me when I cry over you. I'm so glad she got to know you and she has sweet memories of you too. I'm planning to buy my first motorcycle soon. I can't imagine how you would've felt about that..lol.. “ Hey my mama!! I had you on my mind, as usual. Not a day goes by that I don't think about you. In my life, there are constant reminders of this wonderful woman I had as a grandmother. Like the smell of your perfume. Anytime I smell it on another old lady, I have one of my Amy fits.(you know how those are) I never imagined it would be this hard to live without you. I knew we wouldn't be able to keep you forever, but.. I would give anything to see your smile. You were my bestfriend. I know that being here was hard for you, and I would be selfish wanting you to stay. Sometimes I feel like I can't function without you. You never judged me for the stupid stuff I did. You accepted me no matter what. Mama, you were really something special, well you still are something special. I hate that you won't get to see Kennedy become a woman and will never get to meet any future "Little Amy's". I love you to the moon and back my mama!! Mom is turning into you, did you know that. She will say stuff, and it sounds just like you. It's weird. I hope her and Kennedy can have the same special relationship you and I had. It's taken me almost two years to write this. I didn't cry. I've tried it a million times, and just couldn't. I love you!! Save me a place in Heaven.##imported-begin##Amy Smith (The favorite)##imported-end##

Not a day goes by that I don't think of you and miss you even more. You were the best grandma anyone could ever of asked for!! So many things have happened over the past year and none of them were as special because I didn't have you to share them with or tell you about them. I am so thankful for the relationship that we had and glad for every moment I spent with you and every memory I have of you. I am so sorry for your loss. You are all in my thoughts and prayers. When I heard the news my heart went out to each of you. Losing my Grandma was the hardest thing that I ever had to do. The hurt never goes away, but it gets much easier to bear over time. Mama Sellers reminded me so much of my grandma and I think that's one reason that I thought as much of her as I did. She was a wonderful, caring woman that had so much love in her heart, and never missed a chance to make you laugh! I know that she will be missed by many. Knowing that she is in that special place where all of the sweet, wonderful Grandmas go makes my heart feel better. “ Thank you to everyone who cared about our Mom and sent prayers and well wishes. My Mom was very special to me. I had her for 50 years and I cherish every moment. She came to live with Richard and myself April 14, 2007. I learned so much about her and my Dad when they were young and all the stories of our family over our morning coffees together. Yeah, somethings were repeated over and over but I would listen to each one like it was the first time for her sake. Richard reading the Bible to her every night meant the world to her since she wasn't able to read anymore because of the strokes behind her eyes. It meant a lot to him to be able to read one last scripture at her service. I am so glad Amy had come back from Michigan and got to spent the last few weeks with her. Ma's bed always got a little crowded when she came into the room because she never failed to climb up there beside her to get her share of kisses. I'm so proud of my kids, Amy, Ryan and Bryan always left her room with saying I Love You and receiving one back in return and they will always hold the last time they heard it in their hearts. Cassidy and Kennedy always made sure that they had their kisses in too and both sent notes in her casket to help her sleep good. I have no regrets with anything and I know my Mom left here with all of our love as she joined Daddy. She'll be missed, but with her faith in the Lord I know that she's in a wonderful place and I'll meet up with her and Daddy again someday. I Love you Mom, from Julie (your baby)###imported-begin##Julie Isgett###imported-end##

“ My dear family of Miss Eleanor,
I just read my paper about Miss Eleanor's home going. What a precious lady she was to the Coward family. We got to know her when she would bring the grandchildren to see my husband,Dr.Paul Coward,at his office. I want you all to know we loved her dearly and I was sadden to see she had passed away. "Ray Ray , you had a wonderful grandmama". I'm sorry we did not know sooner ,we would have been present at the funeral. Tears are flowing downm my face as I write to you because the last time I saw Miss Eleanor I remember that sweet smile ,like she always had and I remeber the sweet jars of crabapple jelly she made especially for us. Jesus has a precious jewel and I look forward to seeing her again in heaven.We love you ALL.
