“ As first cousins, our families grew up several states apart. What stays in the forefront of my mind is remembering the joy Tony showed on arriving at one of our family reunions in Arkansas. The excitement and thrill of being amongst his extended family could not have been more obvious. And as his health started to fail, he did his best to stay connected with distant family on Facebook and messaging as long as possible, always sending his love. He will be sorely missed.💕💕

I am so shocked I'm so saddened. God bless Tony there. His wife Susan and I have been friends since high school and we worked for a while in the same school district. May God provide her with peace and comfort.

“ Tony was my first cousin, son of Clemmie Nicholson Dixon, who was sister to my Dad. His family, although hundreds of miles away, always stayed close to our family. He was a great guy, kind, and loving. We will miss you, Tony.
