“ Trent,

You probably don't remember me, but Karen and I were dear friends back in high school in 1987, and sadly lost touch after I went to college. I thought of her often and was incredibly saddened today to hear of your loss. I've been telling stories to my husband about all the trouble Karen got me into in high school, and realized that, in no small way, she was responsible for me being the person I am today. I wish I could have thanked her, but instead please accept my deepest, deepest sympathy and know my thoughts are with you, you children, and your family.
