“ My Grandmother Jones was an angel among us. Her words were quiet, but full of wisdom. Her love was genuine shown in her sweet smile that would beam when she saw you. Her gentle hands so soft to touch were as if you were touching the hands of an angel. Grandmother, it will not be same coming into mom's house expecting you to be sitting on the corner of the couch waiting for your hug, waiting for your great grand that you loved so dearly. It want be the same sitting at the Sunday table watching you laugh as you heard the funny stories of our laugh unravel, it want be the same at Christmas when we play the games and you tell us we can not have the treasure that you have found. The chest that I took from you that one Christmas shall remain a part of my home forever because Grandma did not want me to get that chest it shall now serve as a memory piece. I miss you already, wait for me in Heaven, I love you Grandmother

Maxine, Linda, and Brenda, we are so sorry for your loss. I can remember so many times going to church at Wilkes Chapel and all of us kids playing after church. Those are beautiful childhood memories. We love you all and pray that God will put his loving hand on each of you during this most difficult time.
