“ I first met Melvin when I started at Union Camp in 89. I immediately liked Melvin because of his easygoing personality and willingness to work with you and help out. When I left IP and took a position at Invista, I was surprised to see Melvin again and we took up where we left off in our friendship. I enjoyed working with him and will miss him. Our prayers go out to the family.##imported-begin##Mark Basnight##imported-end##

“ My sincere and heartfelt sympathy goes out to Melvins family and his many, many friends in this time of sorrow. Melvin and I shared a lot in conversation about each other, both past and present times, good times and bad times. We also talked about the Lord and how we fit into his scheme of things in our daily lives and what we could expect in the hereafter. Melvin touched many lives in a positive way while here on earth. His gift to us was himself. I will always cherish that.##imported-begin##Jim Cavender##imported-end##
