“ I had the privilege of getting to know and respect Roy McCall, much through associations with him through Messrs. Ervin Dargan and Robert R. Coker, all three immensely talented and influential leaders, especially in innovative agriculture and land use. I admired him and called on him for help often when I was on the House Agriculture Committee. We have lost a national leader in agriculture. A leader in all he did. We are a better society because of his unselfish service, My deep sympathy, but also I join in celebrating his life of accomplishment and my thankfulness in being able to know and to admire him.
