“ Ooooooh, I have to resist and restrain speaking that loooooong refrain. I lived in the dirt in sweat with cotton and okra. Always thought Dick had a better life, 'cause he just sold peaches and played. Thought he was my good friend 'till he enticed me pedal a bicycle aaaall over Alabama to sell Bibles. Strange that he had a car and I got the bicycle. For "recess" we played "hide and seek" with him in the car and us on bicycles.

His car was faster but he couldn't take the short cuts racing back to home plate. Then he introduced me to the "out yonder" life in New Orleans and "hurricanes" at the famous "Pat O'bryan's" club. This dirt country boy had never been "downtown". I remember him taking me in there, but I don't remember coming out. My next recollection was hanging out the car window all the way back to Alabama. At night we sat on the porch listening to "Monk" Earl play guitar and we all singing with "The Animals' " MAMAS Don't Let Yoir Babies Grow Up To Be Cowboys". Next he took me "downtown" Myrtle Beach where he drove us around looking at the girls until he found a beauty and Dick made me get out so she could get in. Said he'd come back for me. I waited on that sidewalk for hours. Never saw him again that night. Sorry, Dick. I told you I was gonna tell on you. I waited 'till now you can't deny it. Then came John Hutto and he and Dick terrorized the farmers blowing up their mail boxes with combat sized fireworks. Yep, Dick took me to experiences I never would have seen in the cotton field and then , somewhere in that wild spin, he turned to ask me ARE YOU WASHED IN THE BLOOD OF JESUS?

Thanks , Dick. Like your 3 amazing children, I am glad for you are no longer living alone. Lot of struggles interspersed with moments of making hillarious memories, then a long lonely life of sadness away from the children he so so much loved. Dick, save me a seat there at God's table. Love ya.

“ I will miss Dick, my first cousin since childhood that I sold watermelons off the truck he was driving, destroyed his mailbox with the M-80 he gave me, sold Bibles with he and Mark in the summer of 64 in Alabama, and will forever be grateful to for telling me to take out the girl we both thought we had a date with- my future soulmate/wife for the past 54 years that I had just met! Rest in peace, my friend. My love and sincerest condolences to my Newton family. Rodney and Susan

“ Uncle Richard loved G-d and His Holy WORD! He hosted my wife and I over when we were in the area. We remember the fried chicken! I remember that he was tough (he talked about the military while driving, when I visited him once), but could be gentle (as in caring for his dog). I appreciate the healthy cold processed healthy chocolate. I actually have some now, that my parents gave me! I can picture him laughing (after hearing a joke, or telling something funny), as I write this. He and his wife raised three Christian children.
