“ Terry I Miss You... There are other people I can talk to, but it's not like talking to you...There are other people I can go places with, but it's not like bing with you...There are other people who matter to me, but no one matters in quite the way you do...There's simply no substitute for you in my life or heart. That's why I just wish I could let you know... How much I really miss you. I'll love you always.
